

Close-Up Illusion Shows

Small, intimate and interactive shows for private events

When you have a small group of VIPs you need to impress, there are few people on the planet better qualified than Simon Coronel.

His close-up illusion shows are astonishing and intimate experiences. Normally performed at a table with the audience seated (front row) and standing (second and third rows) to watch, they feature astonishing interactive illusions, performed mere inches from the eyes of your guests.

Shows are usually just under 30 minutes long, but can be extended or shortened to suit your needs.

Shows can also involve a degree of customization. For example: involving a guest or VIP in one or more of the routines, or incorporating a particular product, logo or concept into the show. Extra charges may apply for customization. Please mention your interest when booking.

Prices available on request.
