

Stage / Conference Illusions

Inspire and amaze even the largest conference crowd

If you want your conference, product launch, or other large scale event spiced up with something astonishing, Simon's world class illusions play just as well for big crowds.

Using state of the art video projection technology, your audience can experience the amazement on a level not normally possible in smaller venues.

Simon can give presentations anywhere from 5 to 45 minutes, all designed to engage, amaze and inspire intelligent and analytical audiences.

Different versions are available for corporate and academic functions, as well as a variety of customizations to take into account the needs of your specific event.

Note that due to the technical nature of this offering, a minimum of one half day of setup and rehearsal will be required at the venue. This will also require the assistance of a lighting and sound technician with full knowledge of the venue. Please discuss specifics when booking.

Prices available on request.
